1. Risks of Using E-Mail: Transmitting patient information by E-Mail has a number of risks that patients should consider. These include, but are not limited to, the following:

- a.) E-mail can be circulated, forwarded, stored electronically and on paper, and broadcast to unintended recipients.
- b.) E-mail senders can easily misaddress and E-mail.
- c.) Backup copies of E-mail may exist even after the sender or the recipient has deleted his or her copy.
- d.) Employers and on-line services have a right to inspect E-mail transmitted through their systems.
- e.) E-mail can be intercepted, altered, forwarded, or used without authorization or detection.
- f.) E-mail can be used to introduce viruses into computer systems.

2. Conditions for the Use of E-Mail: The provider cannot guarantee but will use reasonable means to maintain security and confidentiality of E-mail information sent and received. The patient and provider must consent to the following conditions:

- a.) E-mail is not appropriate for urgent or emergency situations. The provider cannot guarantee that any particular E-mail will be read or responded to.
- b.) E-mail must be concise. The Patient should schedule an appointment if the issue is too complex or sensitive to discuss via E-mail.
- c.) E-mail communications between patient and provider will be filed in the patient's permanent medical record.
- d.) The patient's messages may also be delegated to another provider or staff member for response. Office staff may also receive and read or respond to patient messages.
- e.) The provider will not forward patient-identifiable E-mails without the patient's prior written consent, except as authorized or required by law.
- f.) The patient should not use E-mail for communication regarding sensitive medical information.
- g.) It is the patient's responsibility to follow up and/or schedule an appointment if warranted.
- h.) Recommended uses of patient-to-provider E-mail should be limited to appointment requests, requests for information, non-urgent health care questions, updates to information or exchange of non-critical information.

3. Instructions: To communicate by E-mail, the patient shall:

- a.) Avoid use of her/his employer's computer.
- b.) Put the patient's name in the body of the email.
- c.) Put the topic (e.g. billing question) in the subject line.
- d.) Inform the provider of changes in the patient's E-mail address.
- e.) Take precautions to preserve the confidentiality of E-mail.

f.) Contact the provider's office via conventional communication methods (phone, etc.) if the patient does not receive a reply within a reasonable period of time.

4. Patient Acknowledgment and Agreement

I acknowledge that I have read and fully understand this consent form. I understand the risks associated with the communication of E-mail between the provider and me. I consent to the conditions and instructions outlined here, as well as any other instructions that the provider may impose to communicate with me by E-mail. I agree to use only the pre-designated E-mail address specified above. Any questions I may have were answered.
